

List of Confiscated Items

To His Royal Majesty, King Einar V from his loyal servant Shaaslot -

As you commanded, I gathered guards from other districts around Nuginn and we ambushed the party hired by the Guilds for their secret plot. We outnumbered them greatly, and killed all but one: a tiefling that the others called Chakna. He went into a berserker rage, took out half the guards, and then escaped.

From the other party members, we confiscated quite a few useless or mundane items along with some weapons and armor that we detected were magical. I have them locked up in the armory in my Guard Shack. The items include:

- A black box we couldn't open that appears to contain something magical*
- A shield that curled around their druid's wrist like a bracer when not being used*
- A hand crossbow with an odd bolt that seemed to make guards freeze momentarily when shot*
- A mace that flashed light painfully when he hit one of us with it*
- An axe that seemed to strike with unerring accuracy*
